

From email: "Saw a recent slab avalanche today on a NE aspect of Mt. Henderson, around 10,000. We were skiing nearby on Nov. 11-12 and did not notice this slide, but that may have simply missed it (that slope becomes shaded by about noon this time of year and there was lots of wind affected snow in that area.)" Photo: B. Fredlund

Advisory Region
Cooke City
Longitude

-109.95W

Latitude

45.05N

Avalanche Details: Natural Avalanche Henderson Mountain

Cooke City, 2022-11-16